

Today's News 23.2.21

Good morning Kingfishers!

We've woken up to the exciting news that we will all be back in class on Monday 8th March! That means that - including today - we only have 9 days of home learning to go. I can almost hear the cheers from here - and I'm in St Just! That's just as well as I'm sensing some 'home learning fatigue' out there now.

We'll discuss today's learning at our Zoom meeting but the planning and resources are all in the usual places.

World Book Day (Thursday 4th March)

I haven't received any nominations yet! You can find a book review template below but do hurry! I need your nominations by Thursday (25th) at the latest as I have to submit them on the 26th. In addition to the Book Oscars, we also have a series of book related activities and challenges for you to try at home. You can see them on the link below and if you want to find out more then do have a look at the 'World Book Day 2021' page on the Home Learning Section of the website.

The 5 Ways to Wellbeing

This week's focus is on 'taking notice'. Grace and Sonny have both been out 'Spring' spotting. What have you noticed?

Reflex Maths and Spelling Shed

I'm pleased to say we've zoomed straight back to the top of the Spelling Shed league. Well done especially to Jacob R, Hayden, Finley, Jai, Ruby, Jack and Lamorna for all making the top 10! On Reflex, 14 children played yesterday. Well done to you all but do remember to log off properly to make sure you save your progress!

Fantastic Mr Fox - read by Mr Keast
