

Good morning everyone, I hope you've had a good week.

We've had some super work send to us, thank you to those people!
Some of the journeys you wrote about yesterday were fantastic

I hope you managed a bit of science. In Mrs Clemens house, Eva and Ottilie made slime which they discovered was an irreversible change which also made an irreversible change on the clothes that they managed to get it all over!

As we said earlier in the week, on Fridays we will set a mini project. Because of the lockdown, we cannot travel anywhere so today you are going to travel online. I want you to put together a piece of work about a country of your choice! The Clemens gang have already had a go at it and Jacob and Eva absolutely loved finding out about different places and cultures. Jacob chose Switzerland - because that's where Roger Federer comes from and Eva chose China because her Nanny went there and walked part of the Great Wall to raise money for cancer research.

The project is pretty open so you can chose how you want to present your work and what aspects you'd like to research but there are a few things that you must include. Below you will find some suggestions. You are welcome to use the iPads to present your work or use paper/workbooks and take photos.

Must include;

World map showing where your country is.

Population

Currency

Flag (it would be nice to find out what their flag represents)

Language spoken

Capital city

Could include;

Food - what they eat/cook - maybe you could cook something with your family?

A famous person born in that country

Famous landmarks - perhaps you could create a junk model representing one of them?

Landscape

A map of that country

Music - you could use Garage Band or any instrument to create something?

I will attach some photos of our work Jacob and Eva did on the Showbie pagan case you'd like any ideas - Roger Federer looks uncannily like Elvis Presley on his work!!

As always, I look very much forward to seeing you work!!

Mr Hammond