

Today's News 24.2.21

Good morning Kingfishers!

Thanks for the lovely pictures you sent me yesterday. I've added them to 'The Black Hat' Gallery below. You've got to check out Sonny's amazing Mars/Perseverance video below too!

No Zooms to day or tomorrow as I'm in school but the 'daily plans' are available as normal to guide your home learning. Today you are learning about alliteration and using your adjectives to write alliterative sentences - ideally about the birds from the film but feel free to play! In maths, we are learning how to read/interpret pictograms. For the most part this shouldn't pose a problem if children remember to count in 2s, 5s, or 10s as demanded by the key. Also watch out for the 'finds the difference' questions like 'How many more does Jack have than Eva?'. I haven't taught this skill yet so some guidance may be required! In Science, there is some learning about the Moon. Topical since there is a full moon this Saturday!

World Book Day (Thursday 4th March)

I have my first nominations! Thank you Grace and Lamorna. If you'd like to be in with the chance of winning a Book Oscar you need to get yours to me by tomorrow at the latest! In addition to the Book Oscars, we also have a series of book related activities and challenges for you to try at home. You can see them on the link below and if you want to find out more then do have a look at the 'World Book Day 2021' page on the Home Learning Section of the website.

Back to School Countdown!

There are just 8 days of home learning left! Do have a look at the leaflet below on 'The Return to School'. I know some of the children are biting at the bit to get back but for some others, the thought of coming back may provoke some anxiety and this has ideas to help.

Reflex Maths and Spelling Shed

As usual we are top of Spelling Shed putting the rest of the school to shame! We also had 15 children playing on Reflex. Well done everyone who played!

Fantastic Mr Fox - read by Mr Keast

Chapter 11 is now available below. More to follow!

Next Zooms

Friday - Morning Zoom and Science Zoom.

Don't forget to send me some photos of your learning!

Best wishes,

Mr Dawe
