

Tuesday 21st April

Morning everybody.

Once again, thanks to everyone for getting involved and uploading your work; there was some fantastic stuff going on yesterday, from the Word of the Day pictures to the dancing cats in the coding work.

Hopefully you are still getting plenty of time to get outside and breath in some of that particularly clean air as well.

Ok on to today.

Joe Wicks, as always is a great way to start the day and if you have been doing it regularly, I'm sure you can feel the difference in your fitness.

English

Firstly a new Word of the Day and then some character description based on The Hobbit.

For all the details, head along to the English Group Showbie page code 5UAQ8.

Maths

A break from the Do It Now today with couple of practical maths activities and some image puzzles to work out before returning to the trusty format of video and questions.

All details on the Maths Showbie pages.

Art

This afternoon, I've found an excellent Shoo Raynor video for you to have a go at! It teaches you about the meaning of 'one point perspective' and how to create an image that looks 3D. All you will need is a piece of paper, a sharpened pencil and a black pen.

I absolutely can't wait to see some of the drawings that you create! You could start by copying his work and the perhaps have a go at creating your own?

Please send them to me through showbie or email.

One point perspective.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4tv06f--1wI>